

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

ISSUED EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY AT $1 A YEAR.

VOL. XXVIII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1900, 9 A. M.

NO. 58

MT. VERNON.

Hon. R. J. Breckinridge will speak at the court-house here Monday next. He will have a good crowd.

Sufficient names have been secured to petitions for calling an election to take a vote on the turnpike question.

Prof. Phillips carried off the honors at the teachers' institute here by his method of teaching mental arithmetic.

W. J. Newcomb sends a letter to the Mt. Vernon Signal, in which he gives a graphic description of the frightful experiences he underwent in Galveston's great storm.

At the burial of Mr. Andrew Gentry's child here last week there were present, its father, mother, both grandfathers, both grandmothers and two great-grandmothers.

Murray Boreing, aged about 48, died Tuesday morning of kidney trouble. He was a brother of ex-Postmaster Joshua Boreing, and a man of kindly instincts and one who had no enemy.

While the democrats are doing much effective work in organizing the county, the republicans are not idle by any means. They were billed to organize clubs at eight different school houses Thursday night.

Alfred Bryant and cousin, Miss Mary Pease, have bought R. L. McFerran's stock of goods at the stand near depot and moved Mr. Bryant's stock to that place from the Welsh stand and will continue the mercantile business.

E. A. Herrin is up from Livingston putting smoke escapes in the buildings of C. C. Davis and Reuben Mullins. Master Eber Mullins, of Livingston, was visiting relatives here for the past week. He is the brightest and most courteous little fellow we have met in a long while.

Monday morning a through freight picked up a car load of lime at this place for Galveston, which was donated by citizens of Rockcastle, through the efforts of James I. White, one of our leading men. Mr. White began loading the car Sunday night, started it on its road and trusted to the honor of our people to do their part toward the express. They did it and quickly too. The car was billed to our fellow-townsmen, W. J. Newcomb, who experienced the terrors of Galveston's great calamity.

Circuit court is in session here, but owing to the non-appearance of the business manager of the "cheapest and best" things don't look natural. Business is moving along and Judge Morrow looks better than we have seen him for some time. The case of State against W. G. Mullins, charged with killing Henry Langford, and that against Elza Langford, charged with killing L. C. King, which have been on the docket for a great while, resulting several times in hung juries, were dismissed, it having been demonstrated that a conviction could not be reached in either case.

Low rates West. Railroad bargain days via the Monon route. Tickets will be sold by the Monon route from Louisville, Ky., to points in Arizona, British Columbia, Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Manitoba, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Northern Wisconsin and Wyoming at one first-class fare plus $2 for the round trip on June 19th, July 3, 17, Aug. 7, 21, Sept. 4, 18, Oct. 2, 16, Nov. 6, 20, and Dec. 4, 18, limited returning 21 days. Prospecting parties and tourists will be furnished with schedules and further information by addressing E. H. Bacon, District Passenger Agent, Monon Route, Louisville, Ky.

A lame shoulder is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles, and may be cured by a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

KINGSVILLE.

Mrs. Wm. Reynolds' cow was run over by No. 5, south bound passenger train Tuesday and badly crippled.

Eld. Henocley will attend the Fall Festival at Cincinnati. Jesse and Newton Sweeney have returned from Rockwood, Tenn.

Our milliners, Mesdames S. G. McCarty and Anna Baker have a lovely line of fall hats ready to wear, and will go to the city soon to procure a more extensive stock of fall and winter millinery.

Miss Mary Quinlan, of Junction City, is the pleasant guest of Mrs. B. C. Pennybacker. Lucien Wells, of Hopkinsville, was the guest of Miss Gertrude Pennybacker Sunday. Misses Bella and Lucille Johnston are visiting Mrs. Cicero Reynolds at Stanford. Miss Teresa Dunn and Frank Petty are visiting friends and relatives at their former home in Grant county. Mrs. Everett Chevolette has joined her husband at Lexington. Messrs. W. L. McCarty and son Mike, have returned from a pleasant visit to relatives at Lebanon Junction. Mrs. Wm. Dunaway, of Pittsburgh, and sister, Miss Bessie Bastin, of Ewell, were guests of Mrs. W. R. Condliff. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnson and daughter, Miss Virginia, spent a few days last week with Mrs. J. K. Carson and family at Mt. Olive. Mrs. P. M. Vest and baby, of Whitley county, are visiting relatives here. W. L. McCarty returned Wednesday from a business trip to Frankfort. Eld. Gilliam and wife, of Lexington, were here a few days ago. Dr. B. P. Walter, of Lancaster, is here practicing his profession. Dr. C. M. Thompson is at home from Woodstock, where he has been with his mother, who has been quite ill for some time. Our doctors say that their patients here are all getting well just for spite.

Mrs. Green Murphy is able to be out after several months' illness. Mrs. Edmund Murphy, who has been very sick for some time, is improving. Nearly every one has a "bad cold" since the season's change and your correspondent is right in it, as usual, or rather "out of it" just now. Manifest Chevolette, who has been the faithful and efficient clerk in C. G. Baker's store, has accepted a position at S. G. McCarty's store since Mr. Baker's departure from business.

Reduced rates via Southern Railway to Louisville, on account of the Elks' Fair, Sept. 17th to 20th. The Southern Railway offers best service to Louisville from all stations in Kentucky and reduced rates as follows:

One fare for the round trip, Sept. 17, 19, 22, 26 and 29; tickets good to return one day after date of sale.

14 Fares for the round trip each day from Sept. 17 to 28, inclusive; tickets good to return until Oct. 1, 1900.

For further particulars inquire of nearest agent of Southern Railway, S. T. Swift, Passenger Agent, Lexington, Ky.; Wm. H. Taylor, Asst. Gen'l Pass Agent, Louisville, Ky.

NO RIGHT TO UGLINESS.
The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be so, and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at Penny's Drug Store.

The bridge leading to Galveston will soon be repaired and communication re-established. All relief and other work is well under way. A census is to be taken to ascertain the exact loss of life, which is still estimated at from 5,000 to 6,000.

CRAB ORCHARD.

Miss Mary Carter opened her school at the Holmes school house Monday.

George Holmes and Joe Broughton have each built a nice cottage out in Slatesville.

Mr. Galen Rogers is preparing to erect a neat cottage on his lot and remove the old building.

Mrs. M. E. Fish and daughter, Miss Allie, are in Louisville attending the carnival and visiting her son, Stark Fish. W. E. Perkins is in the city buying fall goods.

Mrs. Ora Pleasants is in a very serious condition from heart trouble and her family and many friends feel very anxious about her. Miss Mattie Beazley is convalescing after a slight attack of fever.

Some low character threw a rock Saturday night through the new bay window at the depot, breaking out two large lights and damaging both curtains. Hanging is too good for such scoundrels.

J. R. Edmiston has gone out of the grocery business and will handle dry goods, shoes, hardware and clothing. Mr. Levi Elder has taken his old clerk, Mr. James Anderson, in as a partner in the grocery business.

Miss Jennie Payne and Mrs. Kittle King are in Louisville attending the carnival and buying new millinery goods. J. R. Edmiston and wife, Mrs. Levi Elder, James Pleasants, Miss Addie and Mr. Alvin Holmes went to Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Mr. R. H. Bronsough took one race horse to London to capture first money. Q. M. Stewart, of Buffalo, N. Y., is here buying up lumber and shipping to his firm. He has already shipped 10 cars. There have been about 15 cars shipped the past week, but you can't miss it owing to the fact that over 40 wagons are constantly hauling it in.

Mrs. J. A. Halteman and children returned to their home in Louisville, after spending a very pleasant summer with her mother, Mrs. Buchanan. Mrs. J. J. Brooks is visiting relatives at Frankfort and Richmond. Mrs. John Brooks, of Atlanta, Ga., who came for a visit to Mrs. S. E. Brooks, is quite sick with fever. Miss Carson, of Blackwell, Oklahoma, is a guest of her aunt, Mrs. S. E. Brooks. Mr. John Riddell will move to Livingston and take charge of the Mullins Hotel Oct. 1st.

Mrs. Martha Collins, of Washington, D. C., who spends her summers at Crab Orchard Springs, left Tuesday for Cincinnati, Columbus and other points to make a few visits before reaching her home at Washington.

FALL FESTIVAL.

The First at Cincinnati, Sept. 19th to 29th.

"If you can't go to Paris, come to the Paris of America."

One hundred thousand dollars have been set aside for the festivities of the Cincinnati Fall Festival. An Industrial Exposition will be the leading feature. All the famous permanent exposition buildings will be occupied. They cover over 100,000 square feet of space, and will be filled with new, novel, instructive and interesting exhibits. Cincinnati originated Industrial Expositions in the United States, and the present one promises to be more attractive and novel than ever before.

Will be given for the best float in the great Trades and Manufacturers' Parade. A gorgeous Flower Parade, the greatest spectacle ever witnessed in Cincinnati, will be a feature of the festival. The Plaza will cover both sides of the canal for many thousand feet, filled with novel entertainments from all parts of the world—a new and modern Midway Pleasure.

IN THE GREAT SPRINGER MUSIC HALL. One of the largest and most famous auditoriums in America, spectacular allegory will be given with grand cast and gorgeous scenery. New costumes and inspiring music.

The opening of the festival will be heralded by booming of cannon, ringing of bells, and the welcoming ceremonies in honor of the Harvest Queen, whose royal barge will be met on its way down the Ohio, and who will be escorted in great state to a grand reception at Springer Hall. Novel and elaborate fireworks display will be made from moving boats.

The Zoo, Coney Island and other summer resorts will have special programs. A day will be set apart for the Trades Unions of the city, and a day devoted to a Monster Athletic Carnival.

Cincinnati cordially invites her neighbors to participate in these festivities. Low rate excursions will be run daily via Queen & Crescent route and other special excursions for days upon which special interesting portions of the vast program of festivities and amusements take place.

His Life Was Saved.
Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at Penny's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Sheriff Bev White, of Clay county, and Iva Steele, a Commonwealth's witness in the Howard case, had a rough-and-tumble fight on a C. & O. train.

BRODHEAD.

A. J. Sutton has opened his broom factory and is now turning out lots of brooms daily. His crop of broom corn is fairly good and as he does not belong to the trust he will reduce the price of brooms in this section.

Mr. J. H. Albright is over in the Wildlife section on business. He has 100 or so acres of splendid tobacco land that he will put in that "weed" in partnership and otherwise next year. He owns a half dozen farms in Rockcastle.

Although Brodhead is a strictly "dry" town there are three barrels of whisky in a frame warehouse in the suburbs of it. Mr. Jarrett made the red eye, but for some reason he has never paid Uncle Sam the tax on it and disposed of it.

There is no law against hogs running at large in Brodhead. The writer counted over 100 on the streets the other afternoon. One gentleman, Mr. Francisco, has 30-odd good porkers, but he thinks too much of them to permit them to run at large.

Mr. George T. McRoberts, than whom there is no better democrat, is still walking on his crutches as the result of a fall some months ago. The old gentleman still claims Stanford his home and will go down and vote in November as he has done for years.

A gentleman, who heard Dr. J. M. Williams' speech at Mt. Vernon Monday, says that it was a crack-a-jack. He introduced E. T. Franks, who he said would discuss State affairs and that he, himself, would handle National issues. During his five-minute talk he told of his trip to the Philippines and denied several charges that he said had been made against him. In attempting to express himself on imperialism, our informant says he got hung up and asked his audience to wait on him until he could find out where he was at. The democrats present began to applaud at this juncture and the would-be Congressman was so rattled that he gave up the job. Franks made a speech characteristic of him; denouncing everything democratic and lauding to the skies republicans and republican acts, assassination and all.

Hon. N. B. Hays was in bad voice, but more than held his own with the rantankerous rad from the second district.

Mrs. Ruth Hines and Miss Graham Roberts, of Boone county, are guests of their relative, Miss Neville Carson. D. R. Totten has gone to Indiana, but not to join Taylor and the rest of the fugitives. Mrs. J. R. Cass is back from a visit to her sister at Loretto. Bradford Albright has returned to Kansas, after a visit to his brother, J. H. Albright, here. Mrs. Allen Southern, of East Bernstadt, was visiting friends here Monday. W. H. Pettus, the clever lightning slinger, who has been absent for some time, is with us again. L. L. Jarrett, J. H. Dunn, Bob Hix and several others attended court at Mt. Vernon. Miss Ida Tharp, who has been very ill with fever, is no better. Mr. Addis Hendrickson, who is teaching on Copper Creek, was visiting friends and relatives here. James Owens' little daughter is quite sick. Ben Pike, who got his foot so severely hurt by the train some time ago, near New Haven, is improving, and will soon be out again. Ella Carson, little daughter of Will Carson, is very sick. Walter Turpin, of Mt. Vernon, is running Frith Bros' saw mill. Born, to the wife of E. B. Newland, the 18th, a fine girl, and El is the happiest man in town. Virgil Martin, who has been visiting his brother at Junction City, has returned home.

HE OWES HIS LIFE TO THE FORETHOUGHT OF A COMPANION.

While on a camping trip in Webster county, Mr. S. I. Stump, of Normantown, W. Va., had a severe attack of bloody flux. He says: "I firmly believe that I owe my life to the forethought of one of the company who had taken along a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy." Moral—Procure a bottle of this remedy before leaving home. It cannot be obtained when on a hunting, fishing or prospecting trip. Neither can it be obtained while on board the cars or steamship, and at such times and places it is most likely to be needed. The safe way is to have it with you. Thousands of travelers never leave home on a journey without it. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists, Stanford, Ky.

Mrs. Henry Smith, wife of a tiemaker at Mary's Home, Mo., became the mother of five boys at one time. They are reported to be well and weigh a total of 30 pounds. Smith, according to reports, has a remarkable family. He has been married about seven years and is the father of 16 children.

What most people want is something mild and gentle, when in need of a physician. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets fill the bill to a dot. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

Four men were killed and another fatally injured by a cave-in on the line of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railway near Osgood, Ind.

Are grand, but skin eruptions rob life of joy. Bucklen's Arnica Salve cures them, also Old, Itching and Fever Sores, Urticaria, Boils, Felons, Corns, Warts, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Chapped Hands, Chilblains. Best Plaster on earth. Drives out Pains and Aches. Only 25 cents a box. Cures guaranteed. Sold by Penny, Druggist.

LANCASTER.

Mr. John W. Flowers bought of Abram Renick, of Clark county, a South-down lamb for $25.

Mr. Charles W. Frisbie went to Louisville on business Wednesday night. J. H. Symphon has been confined to his room with jaundice.

G. W. Gastineau, of Middleboro, is here with relatives, and to attend a family reunion of seven brothers, all of whom are democrats.

W. B. Mason very wisely says that the republicans will use an abundance of money to buy votes and then make the voter pay it back in excessive charges on protected articles, such as sugar, coal oil and clothing.

Mr. Smith Wortham, aged 58, died at the residence of his brother-in-law, Capt. Boston Dillon Monday. The remains were buried in Lancaster cemetery on Tuesday, after appropriate services. He was a good citizen.

Thos. Stone sold his farm of 75 acres on the Crab Orchard pike, to David Thompson, at $40 per acre, equivalent to cash. E. W. Norris has accepted a position as salesman in the Blue Grass grocery store. Chas. F. Hudlin, of Gallipolis, Ohio, was here on business Wednesday. Edwin Arnold is doing well with D. H. Baldwin & Co's. reliable pianos.

Our people were very much gratified on Tuesday morning, when it was reported that gas was flowing from the well which is being bored by Ed Minor near his new mill. Crowds gathered on the premises and learned that a pocket of gas had been struck at a depth of 140 feet, which forced the water nearly to the surface. Minor will continue to bore, hoping to strike water or gas in paying quantities. The truth is, he and Horace Herndon can furnish plenty of gas, but it cannot be utilized.

As Jack Frost approaches, Cupid's arrows are flying thick and fast and our young people are rushing to the marriage altar, and taking the vows which can alone insure domestic happiness. Six souls were made happy on Wednesday. T. L. Wall and Miss Norma Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stone, of this city, were married at 4 P. M., at the home of the bride on Richmond avenue by Eld. A. R. Moore. A double wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Sweeney Morgan on the Crab Orchard road at 8 P. M., the same day, the brides being his daughters. The parties were Mr. Frank Holtzelaw and Miss Jennie Morgan, Mr. J. B. Sutton and Miss Grace Morgan. The parties are well connected and they received the hearty congratulations of relatives, neighbors and friends. In view of the fact that four more weddings are soon to follow, Deputy Clerk O. W. Shugars has laid aside a license for his own use, fearing that the supply would be exhausted.

Indications point to the fact that William J. Bryan is to the American people what Moses was to the Israelites, for he seems to be destined to lead them out of the bondage of trusts, high tariff and the corrupt methods of republicanism. We see in him the type of the honest statesman, the qualities of the man without a price, there being but few of that kind in existence today. As the majestic oak towers above the insignificant shrub, so does he rise above the ordinary politician, who seeks office for gain and whose official course is adapted to the wishes of the rich, who have become so at the expense of impoverishing the people. Such a man would shed a halo of glory about the White House and cause the people to praise him as the burdens are lifted from them and the principle of "Equal Rights to all and Exclusive Privileges to none," is brought into active being, and causes a reign of happiness and prosperity, hitherto unknown, to sweep over the land. God hasten the day, for we are now serfs and slaves, with chains more galling than those borne by the blackest criminal on earth.

CURED OF CHRONIC DIARRHOEA AFTER 30 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

"I suffered for 30 years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Hallway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy, and after taking several bottles, I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists, Stanford, Ky.

Miss Lillian Clayton Jewett, the young Boston enthusiast who started South on a crusade against lynching, got as far as Richmond, Va., where she was snubbed by Negroes, when she returned home in disgust. Tuesday night she was hung in effigy there.

BEISMARCK'S IRON NERVE.
Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop the power of brain and body. Only 25c at Penny's Drug Store.

Royal

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

For the third of a century the standard for strength and purity. It makes the hot bread, hot biscuit, cake and other pastry light, sweet and excellent in every quality.

No other baking powder is "just as good as Royal," either in strength, purity or wholesomeness.

Many low priced, imitation baking powders are upon the market. These are made with alum, and care should be taken to avoid them, as alum is a poison, never to be taken in the food.

In his letter formally accepting the democratic nomination for president, Mr. Bryan renews his pledge made in 1896, that if he is elected he will not be a candidate for re-election. He does this in order to be free from the desire and not be tempted to use the patronage of the office for personal ambition. He gives cordial and unqualified endorsement to the party's unambiguous and clear position on every question and having in his notification speech dwelt at length on the paramount issue of imperialism, he reviews the remaining planks of the platform. Discussing trusts, Mr. Bryan says that the republicans have neither the desire nor the ability to deal with them. No defense can be made for an industrial system in which one or a few men can control for their own benefit, the output or price of any article of merchandise. Under such a system the consumer suffers extortion, the producer of raw material has but one purchaser, the laborer but one employer, the small stockholder is at the mercy of the speculator while the traveling man contributes his salary to the over-grown profits of the trusts. If elected he will recommend such legislation as is necessary to dissolve the private monopolies and appoint an attorney general who will see that existing laws are enforced without fear or favor. The Dingley tariff bill is a breeder of trusts and can not be successfully defended even by those who believe in the principle of protection, because it enables trusts to exact enormous tolls from the citizen. Honest corporations are to be fostered, but those which are used for political purposes must be forced to confine themselves to the business described in their charters.

He discusses the currency question at length and applauds the platform's specific declaration for the present ratio of 16 to 1 in coinage. The election of U. S. Senators by vote of the people, direct legislation, Chinese exclusion, and reclamation of the arid lands are discussed and given his warmest approval, while government by injunction for labor and the blacklist against laborers are severely condemned. A department of labor with arbitration established will insure friendly relations between labor and capital, and render obsolete the growing practice of calling out the army to settle labor troubles.

Pensions, and liberal ones, should be given those who, in the hour of danger, and at great sacrifice of business, health and life, tender their services to their country. Pension laws should be liberally construed, but the fact of enlistment shall be deemed conclusive evidence that the soldier was sound when the government accepted him. A certificate given now to the health of a person 40 years ago, even if easily obtainable, should not have as much weight as the certificate of the medical officer who examined the volunteer with the view of ascertaining his fitness for army service.

Mr. Bryan urges the reception into the union of States of Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma and demands a fulfillment of the Nation's pledge to Cuba and Porto Rico. Friendly relations with all nations should be maintained and entangling alliances entered into with none.

The Monroe doctrine is defended and a plea entered for a Filipino republic protected by us, instead of the European colonial policy adopted by the republicans. Large sums of money have been wrung from the tax payers to support that policy, but with a restoration of a foreign policy consistent with American ideas, there can be an immediate and large reduction in the burdens now borne by the people.

Mr. Bryan regrets that no specific mention of an income tax was made in the platform, but he reasserts his belief in the principle and says that in the hour of danger the government can draft the citizen and ought to be able to draft the pocket book as well. Unless money is more precious than blood we cannot afford to give greater protection to the incomes of the rich than the lives of the poor.

Important as all these questions are they dwindle into insignificance in comparison with that of imperialism and after the doctrine that the people are the only source of power is made secure from further attack can we safely proceed to the settlement of the numerous questions which involve the domestic and economic welfare of our citizens.

The letter is a very vigorous review of the Kansas City platform and every line shows how earnest our matchless leader is in its support and how capable he is of maintaining and defending it.

The strike of the lamp chimney makers was soon broken.

The endless abuse heaped upon Carl Schurz in the republican organs, for espousing the cause of Bryan, shows that they fully realize the extent of their loss and democracy's gain by this step on his part, and the latter party has cause for congratulation on the accession of so able a fighter to its ranks. He was one of the main causes of Blaine's defeat in 1884, and will do equally as much to defeat McKinley in 1900. He has already given the republicans the severest blow of the campaign in his open letter to Gage, which completely tore the disguise from the money scare-crows so carefully prepared by them to frighten the anti-imperialist round money men of the East into line. He is one of the finest campaigners in the country, being a fluent speaker in either German or English, and each blast upon his bug-horn is worth a thousand German votes. He will continue his campaign services to New York, which makes doubly sure what was certain before, that Bryan will carry that State. Although 71 years old, Mr. Schurz is in the full possession of his mental faculties and in more than one particular is one of the ablest men in the country. His biography of Henry Clay is easily the best account of that statesman's life that has appeared and incidentally the best history of the United States during Clay's long political career, which was very fruitful of historical episodes, including as it does, the famous tariff agitation, nullification, the annexation of Texas, the Mexican war, the Missouri compromise and others of equal importance. He disposes of all these questions in an exhaustive and able manner. His career has been an eventful one. Born and educated in Prussia, he began life as a newspaper man and when quite young was compelled to flee from the land of his nativity on account of taking part in an unsuccessful attempt to create a revolution. He spent several years in Paris teaching and corresponding for German newspapers. In 1852 he removed to the United States, spent three years in Philadelphia, then settled in Wisconsin, where he took an active part in the campaign of 1856 for the republican party, being the recognized leader of the German element. He was likewise conspicuous in the republican convention and campaign of 1860 and was appointed minister to Spain in 1861, but soon resigned that position to join the Federal army, in which he was a brigadier and then a major general. He settled in Missouri after the war and was United States Senator from that State from 1869 to 1875, and he was also a member of Hayes' cabinet. He settled in New York in 1875. He has edited a number of newspapers, including the New York Evening Post. Like ex-Gov. Boutwell, he will close his brilliant career by doing all in his power to destroy the party which he helped to create.

In his speech at Mayfield, where he and Gov. McCrory were heard by 7,000 people, Gov. Beckham said with reference to Mr. Yerkes question that he was not nominated by a party which indorsed any man indicted for Goebel's murder, and, therefore, was not open to the question as to what he would do in reference to pardoning the Goebel conspirators. If any one of them is wrongly convicted and it is shown to Gov. Beckham, that he has been, he will, we take it, gladly extend executive clemency, but he will not proceed on Mr. Yerkes' evident proposition that they are all innocent and their conviction could only be accomplished by a partisan court, therefore all are deserving of pardon. The governor also took occasion to lay the editor of the Louisville Post, whom he characterized as a political scavenger in the hire of the republican party. Both at Mayfield and Paducah, where he and Gov. McCrory spoke at night ovals were given and the prediction was made by many that the 1st district would give Bryan and Beckham 12,000 majority.

The following excerpt from Mr. Bryan's letter of acceptance shows that he is familiar with the worst feature of Kentucky politics: "A corporation is not organized for political purposes, and should be compelled to confine itself to the business defined in its charter. Honest corporations, engaged in an honest business, will find it to their advantage to aid in the enactment of such legislation as will protect them from the undeserved odium which will be brought upon them by those corporations which enter the political arena."

In addition to delivering two set speeches and 13 platform talks Monday, Mr. Bryan gave out his letter of acceptance of the democratic nomination for president, containing many columns of splendid campaign material. The capacity of the next president for work is wonderful and his stock of resources illimitable and inexhaustible.

Tickets to the Paris Exposition have been reduced to four cents. If the water between here and there wasn't too deep to ford, we could all walk over and see the big show.

SENATOR BLACKBURN has been invited to speak in 13 States. It is to be hoped that he will accept only a dozen of the invitations and avoid the consequences of the unlucky number.

"DESERTION OF DUTY," says McKinley, "is not an American principle." For that very reason McKinley's administration will not be endorsed.

BRYAN will make but one speech in Kentucky for the very sensible reason that he will do but little speaking except in those places where it is needed.

THE trusts have caused 25,000 drummers to lose their jobs, and all of them are now drumming for Bryan.

MARK HANNA is a most adroit politician. Aware that over-confidence of victory is nearly as bad as apathy in a campaign, in his speeches in Indiana, where he went as he claimed, "to show the people that he did not have horns," he warned the republicans that it might result in the defeat of their ticket. This will have the effect of putting the leaders to working harder and then Hanna will do the rest with his crisp, new $2 bills. But the best information from the Hoosier State is that Hanna can neither buy nor bully the vote and that a safe majority is assured for Bryan and the State ticket.

MARK HANNA said in a speech at Chicago: "I would like Mr. Bryan or any other democrat to tell me what a trust is. I believe there is not a trust in the entire United States." Mr. Bryan has done so repeatedly and will continue to tell how these competition extinguishers are enabled under republican administration to extort money from the people for their profits. As to Hanna's other statement it is only necessary to say that he falsifies knowingly and with intent alone to catch suckers.

THE home given Dewey by his admiring fellow-citizens has been neglected so badly the neighbors are complaining of it as an eye-sore. The gift, which has been a thorn in its owner's side from the first, has no doubt become an eye-sore to him also, as he considers it one of the main causes of keeping him out of the home now occupied by McKinley, which was the decided choice of his ambitious better half.

THE lying Louisville Dispatch having published an alleged interview with John Kimbro, who was with John Rhea when the Butler county assassins attempted to kill him with stones, that he was only rotten egged, that gentleman makes a sworn statement that he never gave such an interview, but on the contrary corroborates every thing that Mr. Rhea says. It is always a lie if you see it in the Post or Dispatch.

PINKERTON sleuth-hands are being slipped into the coal regions of Pennsylvania to butcher the strikers if the least excuse presents itself. The same course was pursued with the Homestead strikers in 1892, and the presidential election which followed shortly after was a Waterloo for the republicans.

JUDGE J. H. TINSLEY, of Barbourville, seems to have made his calling for circuit judge sure in Brown's district and his election too unless the court of appeals decides that Hon. John Henry Wilson is entitled to the office and no election is necessary.

POLITICAL.

A Roosevelt rough rider in South Dakota shot an editor who criticized his speech.

Adlai E. Stevenson will begin an extensive stump tour of Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Editor John H. Westover, of Williamstown, has withdrawn from the congressional race in the 6th, leaving the fight between Berry and Rhinock. While Gov. Wells was in Idaho to meet Gov. Roosevelt, Judge O. W. Powers, of Salt Lake, Utah, a democrat, was appointed United States Senator by President Nebeker, of the Senate.

Golden Rule Jones, who polled 107,000 votes in Ohio last year as an independent candidate for governor, has come out for Bryan. Mr. Jones is now the mayor of Toledo, and has a strong following in Ohio.

At Leavenworth, Kan., Bryan referred to Senator Hanna's speech at Delphi, Ind., and said he would meet him in joint debate if the republican committee would certify that Hanna was to be president in case of republican success.

John W. Yerkes is enough lawyer to know he has no case, and we will wager our check for any amount against a nickel that he regrets the day that he accepted the nomination, and those regrets will know no surcease from now up to, and including the November election.—Mayfield Mirror.

G. R. Keller, of the Carlisle Mercury, says: "The Goebel Election law bears the name of Senator Goebel by the merest accident. The main features were imported from Tennessee by B. A. Enloe. It was suggested and considered in a room at Frankfort in the presence of Senators Goebel, McChord and others. It was decided that Senator McChord prepare and present the bill, but he was taken ill, and it was in compliance with a note from him that Senator Goebel presented the measure. Thus it was by this merest accident that the bill became the Goebel law instead of the McChord law."

The House election bill provides for a State board of commissioners consisting of one democrat, one republican, each to be named by the governor on the recommendation of the governing authorities of each party, the clerk of the court of appeals to preside over the State board and act as umpire. The sheriff is to act as umpire on the county boards, which consist of one republican and one democrat; both boards to have judicial powers. The polls are to be open at 6 A. M. and close at 4 P. M., instead of opening at 7 and closing at 4 o'clock. The Senate objects to conferring judicial powers to the boards.

THE HOWARD TRIAL.

In the trial of Jim Howard, for assassinating Gov. Goebel, Ben Rike backed Bowman Gaines in identifying Howard as the man who ran out of the capitol square just after the fatal shot was fired. F. M. Bowman saw Grant Roberts, Wade Skidmore and several other men at the door of the executive building with rifles just after the shot was fired. One of the men strongly resembled Jim Howard. Mrs. William Heffner saw the window in Caleb Powers' office raised slightly just before the shot and lowered a minute or so later. C. T. Jones, of Corbin, a cousin of the prisoner, talked to him the day of the shooting in the basement of the executive building and remarked to Howard that Goebel had not been shot, when Howard replied that Goebel was shot and was shot dead. Robert Allen, of Clay, had a talk with Howard, who said he knew the man who killed Goebel and the one who had him indicted for the crime. Charles Howard, a farmer, identified Howard as one of the men who came to the door of the executive building when the officers were taking Whittaker away. This was corroborated by R. O. Armstrong, a penitentiary guard. W. H. Culton testified that he saw Howard the day of the shooting and he told him he had been in Frankfort a week. He talked with him about the shot and while they did so Howard pulled from his pocket a few 45 caliber cartridges. He displayed them and then pulled out an empty cartridge hull. Howard said, "I have been to the hotel and Goebel will die. If the bullet had something on it he would have died instantly, but damn him he will die anyhow." At another time he pointed to a tree in the State grounds and said, "If you aim at a fixed object and pull down as the object passes you will make a dead shot." He said that he had always heard of Jack Chinn as a brave man, but that I ought to have seen him run when the shot was fired. Asked how he knew, he replied, "Don't ask any fool questions."

Wharton Golden testified that he saw Howard the afternoon of the shooting and that he said that he had heard that Jack Chinn was a good race horse starter, and added, "He never started a horse that ran as fast as he did when Goebel was shot." James Stubblefield, of Clay, was recalled by Owens to say if he had not been under guard since his arrival in Frankfort, when Col. Campbell jumped up and said that he had been under guard and that he would not have been present now, if the defense could have gotten him away, as it did another important witness. Owens declared the statement false and made to influence the jury, when Judge Cantrell called them both to order.

The Commonwealth rested at 4 o'clock Tuesday, after making out a very strong case against Howard and bringing Youtsey and Taylor further to the front in the conspiracy. The plan of the defense will be to attempt to establish an alibi, but that seems impossible from the evidence adduced. The first witness for the defense was Jim Howard, who testified in his own behalf, denying everything brought out against him and declaring he was at the Board of Trade Hotel when Goebel was shot. Jim accounts for his presence in Frankfort by saying he was there to get a pardon from Taylor for the murder of old man Baker. Col. Campbell mixed him up considerably and caused him to make a number of contradictory statements. It has all along been claimed by him and his friends that he was not in Frankfort at all at the time of the assassination, being detained by a late train. During the examination Howard told how he murdered Baker.

J. C. W. Day, a Winchester merchant, testified that he sent word to Gov. Goebel by Edward Saulsberry that he was to be assassinated, but stated that he did not receive his information from either Howard or his friends. Day stated that he was positive Howard was no mousethumb on Jan. 29, but on cross-examination admitted that he recalled the fact on the suggestion of John G. White that such was the case at that time.

Sheriff Bev. White swore that the train he and Howard came to Frankfort on was 35 minutes late when they arrived at Winchester, but the agent of the L. & N. and C. & O., testified that the train arrived at Frankfort at 10:17, or about one hour before Gov. Goebel was shot. Howard swore that Stubblefield was a man of bad moral character and that his reputation for truth was not good. When asked if he did not sign a petition asking that Stubblefield be appointed census enumerator for Clay, he replied that he might have but did not know for certain.

Howard admitted that Judge Tinsley complimented him at London on his return from Frankfort, but that he did so for some kindness that he had done the judge's son. Judge Tinsley corroborated Howard in this.

THE prohibition special train, with the candidates for president and vice president, John G. Woolley and Henry E. Metcalfe, Rev. Sam Jones and Volney D. Cushing, of Maine, and National Chairman Stewart, will arrive at Danville at 1 P. M. Oct. 4, where for an hour or more of the speakers will address the people at the court-house, so District Elector Geo. L. Carpenter tells us. The stop will cost the prohibitionists $50 and contributions for the purpose can be handed Mr. Carpenter, Moreland, or W. H. Sallee, Danville, who have guaranteed the amount.

SCHOOL TAX.—The trustees of the Stanford school district have decided to hold an election Oct. 6, the same day a trustee to be elected in place of Dr. W. B. O'Bannon, to take the sense of the people as to whether a tax of 18c on the $100, shall be levied so as to employ two more teachers at the public school, extend the line and practically make it a graded institution. There are now 151 pupils and only three teachers, who find it practically impossible to do all justice. The need of a good graded school, in which the people have confidence, is very apparent here and if the additional tax will accomplish the purpose, it will be money well spent. There is no provision for a poll tax in the order of election.

BUY A BUTTON.—Photographer E. H. Fox, of Danville, has a button machine and is now turning out some very fine Bryan, Beckham and Yerkes buttons in the latest style of mounting. He sells them cheaply and they are the best that have been seen here.—News.

NEWS comes from Hustonville that Dr. Ed Alcorn will begin in a few days to build a handsome brick business building in the place of the one occupied by June H. Reid, corner Danville and Main Streets. It will materially improve the appearance of the capital of the West End.

MAKING DEMOCRATS.—B. F. Ferrill, of Moreland, writes us that two weak republican brothers, one a recidivist to that faith, spoke in the West End the other night and the result is the democrats will gain several votes. He says the two speakers were about the worst that ever happened.

DETECTIVE ARRESTED.—Deputy Joe A. Shannon arrested and delivered to Sheriff S. M. Owens yesterday, J. D. Steenberg, the Crab Orchard detective, who is wanted at Glasgow for failing to appear against certain parties charged with selling whisky there. Steenberg worked up the cases and claims that he was in Alabama when the trials were called. His bond was fixed at $1,700, which he failed to give and Deputy C. B. Owens left with him for Glasgow this morning.

THE TRUTH OF THE MATTER.—Referring to a report of the speaking at Somerset Monday the Lexington Leader publishes an alleged special from there telling how Hon. Wood G. Dunlap did up the democratic party, and how that instead of asking for a division of time Hon. R. C. Warren showed his wisdom by sitting and hearing Dunlap through and then attempting to answer him, adding: "From the amount of noise Col. Warren made he evidently believes that it is the thunder and not the lightning that hurts. Not one ripple of applause did he get, nor would he have had anybody to hear him if Mr. Dunlap had not requested them to remain and hear both sides." The truth of the matter is that the republicans had refused to permit Hon. W. B. Smith to divide time with Mr. Dunlap and he would have had to speak at 10 A. M. had he come, but he failed and Mr. John W. Colyer spoke at that hour. Mr. Warren asked Mr. Dunlap for a division of time, but was told that while he was willing, the committee would not permit it. Mr. Dunlap promised to ask his hearers to remain and listen to Mr. Warren, but forgot to do so till two-thirds of them had left. Mr. Warren never had a more enthusiastic audience or one that complimented his efforts more. He also says that Mr. Dunlap made a good speech from his standpoint, and did not indulge in the usual abuse of speakers of his party.

MATRIMONIAL.

Miss Matilde MacGregor, of Louisville, and Mr. J. W. Huston, of Philadelphia, are announced to marry.

John Logan Carpenter, aged 21, and Miss Minnie May Yocum, 18, were married at John Lay's Wednesday.

J. W. Southernland, of Casey, aged 21, and Miss Nancy Ellen Hall, 15, of the West End, were made one at Hustonville yesterday.

Capt. Thomas Hutchison, of the Cincinnati Southern, who used to live here, was married Wednesday at Burgin, to Miss Mattie Gann, of Dayton, Tenn.

Mrs. W. T. Muir was granted a divorce at Lexington with alimony of $5,000 and given judgment of $5,000 against Mrs. Mary E. Muir, her husband's mother, for alienating his affections.

G. B. Swinebroad and Miss Nell Marra, both popular young people of Lancaster, will be married Wednesday next at 10:30 A. M. at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mayor Robert Kincaid.

LAND, STOCK, CROPS, &c.

W. P. Grimes sold 50 ewes at $4.10. Twelve horses entered the 2:10 list this season.

J. M. Reynolds sold to W. B. McKinney a bunch of hogs at 44c.

The Columbia News reports sales of young males at $27.50 to $45.

J. F. Cash sold to W. W. Lyon a three-year-old mare for $120.

Eight or nine steer calves for sale. J. M. Reynolds, Wayneburg.

Seventy nice yearling cattle for sale. J. E. Wright, Milledgeville, Ky.

Beasley Bros. sold four extra fine horses to Joe Kindig, of York, Pa., for $700.

Frank Stewart, of Atlanta, bought 19 horses for $3,350 in this and adjoining counties.

Dr. Hugh Reid sold to Col. Underwood two O. I. C. glits at $10—about 10c per pound.

J. B. Foster sold to E. P. Woods 25 225-pound hogs at 44c and a little lighter bunch at 45c.

S. M. Sauley, of this office, bought of M. J. Farris, Jr., a combined, dark bay Eagle Bird gelding for $50.

J. A. Hammond bought Monday of different parties 20 sugar mule colts at from $50 to $70.—Georgetown Times.

Gay Bros., of Woodford, sold to Geo. Webb, of Philadelphia, the premium combined mare, Effie Lillian, for $3,000.

A black sow shot came to my place in June. Owner can get her by paying for this notice and keep. Wm. Beck, Stanford.

Joe H. Jordan, of Atlanta, bought of S. H. Baughman six horses at $70, of Jesse Walter one at $70 and another at $80 and of John Cook one for $35.

Harry Lazarus bought 26 nice mules, paying prices ranging all the way from $10 to $110. Thomas Fisher was in quest of suckling mules, but only bought four for which he paid from $30 to $40.—Glasgow Times.

About 5,000 cattle on the Mt. Sterling market; best steers selling at 44c; lower grade 44 to 44 1/2; yearling steers sold as high as 44c; about 1,000 sheep on the market, mostly wethers, brought 3c.—Sentinel Democrat.

S. M. Owens tells us that he sold to a New York party for $100 the best pair of four-year-old males that ever left the county. They were sired by Samuel Reid's bald face jack, Balaam, one of the best mule jacks in the State, he also sold to J. H. Jordan, of Atlanta, a plain horse for $65.

CHURCH MATTERS.

Two hundred and fifty ministers are attending the conference of the M. E. Church, North, at Somerset.

Rev. P. E. Cheek held a meeting at High Bridge, which resulted in 32 additions to the Christian church, 18 by baptism and 10 restored, one for the Baptist and two for the other denominations.

The Cumberland River Association, in session at Pleasant Hill, resolved to urge the business men of Somerset to use their influence against reopening the saloons there and to refuse to trade with those who advocate the whisky traffic.

Elder Z. T. Williams has been very successful in his church work since his return from Jerusalem. He has held five meetings up to this writing, resulting in 75 additions to the church. Mr. Williams states that his trip to the Holy Land has been a great benefit to him in preaching, and that the money outlay in his travels was profitably expended.—Columbia News.

IN NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

Arthur Madison stabbed James Hillson fatally at Somerset.

The London fair is going on and good crowds are attending.

Water has been hauled for the Lancaster electric light plant for two weeks.

J. H. Ludwig, formerly of Harrodsburg, was given a life sentence at Lexington for the murder of Martin Stevens.

John Harris Stone, aged 14, son of Capt. Sam H. Stone, ex-auditor of Kentucky, died at Louisville from the effects of an operation for appendicitis.

Willie Cordell and Rufus Goodman, two boys of Strunk, Whitley county, were run over and killed by a Cincinnati Southern fast train while playing on the track.

James Harvey Davis, at one time one of Boyle county's wealthiest citizens, is dead. He left a second wife and two children, W. J. Davis and Mrs. J. B. McFerran by a former marriage.

The information that the chickens are dying by the wholesale from limberneck in Jessamine county is not calculated to carry much comfort to the members of the Methodist conference, who are in annual session in Nicholasville this week.—Georgetown Times.

A Miss Jones, aged 14, was shot and killed near Albany by unknown parties. She was preparing dinner when the mysterious crime was enacted.

LATER.—Travis Brown was captured and lodged in jail at Albany. The mob formed at Cartwright to hang him, but the sheriff dogged them and reached the jail in safety.

DANVILLE.—O. J. Thurmond, the coal and grain merchant, has sold out to Will Lillard, who will come to town to live. Mr. Thurmond has made no other arrangements, but his friends hope he will remain in Danville. Geo. Innis sold to L. B. Hughes, of Garrard, his house and five acres of ground, three miles and a half from Danville, near the Lexington pike, for $550. W. E. Mitchell and son, George Mitchell, have been indicted by the Boyle county grand jury for dynamiting. S. G. Montgomery, of Boyle county, and Miss Kittie Belle Watson, of Rockcastle, were granted marriage license.—Advocate.

Gov. Beckham has just been made an Elk.

Public Sale of Fine Farm

As agents, we will sell to the highest bidder.

On Saturday, October 6th, 1900.

On the premises.

The Farm of 368 Acres

Of splendid Blue-grass land, belonging to the heirs of the late Adam Carcortner. The farm lies on the edge of Casey county, about 5 miles south of Hustonville and every acre is fertile and tillable. On it, near the center of the place, is a large, two-story frame dwelling, containing eight rooms and two halls; double-story porch in front and on all; large stock barn near the house and all necessary out buildings. There are two large tobacco barns conveniently located that will house about 20 acres. About one-third of the farm is well set in grass; the balance in wheat and corn this year. Water is abundant everywhere; a splendid orchard of selected fruit. It can be so divided as to have a good tenement house on one place; the mansion on the other. Parties wishing to examine it, will be shown over it by the Pipes Bros., who live upon it. Seeding privileges now; full possession Jan. 1, 1901. Terms, very reasonable, will be made known on day of sale. Sale promptly at 10 o'clock.

J. W. HOOKER, Agents, Hustonville, Ky.

TOGETHER.

What of the stormy weather
Where wild waves lash the shore,
And you and I together
Sweethearts, forevermore?
"Forevermore!" No other
Of any time or tide;
We'll be together
Over the green world and wide.

To tread the dim ways lowly
Where thorns or violets grow;
To face God's starlight holy
On Alpine heights of snow!
No starved or stormy weather—
To shiver or adore,
Together—still together,
Sweethearts, forevermore!

Life like a dream is ying—
Into the black void drawn;
The lights—the lights are dying
Even as the brave lights dawn.
While the white terrors glisten
And dim the morning light,
We listen—still we listen
For the calling of the Night.

But the Night shall find in splendor
Over life's storm-swept shore,
And the keen thorns shall be tender,
With you, forevermore!
And what the stress of weather—
Dark angels hovering o'er—
So that we are together,
Sweethearts, forevermore!

THE DOGWOOD'S SECRET

By Gabrielle E. Jackson.

"CAN you come with us?"

"Come where?"

"Out to the woods. We are going to gather wild flowers for the flower table

at the fair to-night."

"Wait a second and I'll ask mamma.

Yes, it's all right; I may go." And a moment later Madge Spaulding had whisked on her straw sailor hat and was bounding down the piazza steps to join the girls waiting for her. They were a jolly, happy lot, a dozen or more from the big boarding school on the hill, an ideal one, by the way, where much liberty and few rules left the girls free to enjoy themselves according to their fancies, the wise principal realizing that much more was to be expected from girls who were guided by love and taught to understand the limitations of the word "gentlewoman" than from those who lived in constant apprehension of the bugbear word "don't."

Madge was a day pupil at the school and had many friends among the boarders, by whom she was always included in any plans for a good time.

"Where are you going to get the flowers?"

"Up in the Ogden woods. There are loads there, and the dogwood is perfectly beautiful now," said Paula Barnett.

The woods were soon reached and the girls scattered to the various parts of the greatest attraction. Madge and Paula strolled away together. It was an ideal afternoon in the latter part of May, and the woods were as they can only be in late springtime.

Birds were calling to each other in the maddest, merriest way and waking the echoes with their jubilant songs. Sunbeams played at hide and seek with the children, danced upon the bright green leaves and painted the flowers with more brilliant hues.

"Let's go down this path," said

Madge. "I see loads of dogwood blossoms in that little dell."

"All right; come on, and I'll make you a beautiful wreath."

The girls were seen in the little dell, a fairylike spot in the midst of the woodland, where the grass seemed greener, the sun brighter and the dogwood blossoms more snowy white than elsewhere. A hedge of the trees grew about the edge of the open space, which seemed to have been planned by Dame

Nature for fairy revels.

"Now, sit right down on the soft grassy bank and I'll dress you up," said

Paula, and she had soon woven a pretty wreath of blossoms about Madge's sunny head.

"I see some beauties over there. Don't stir while I get them."

Madge snuggled down in her soft nest and Paula wandered further and further away. Madge's eyes followed her in a dreamy sort of way, for how could one help being dreamy when the very sunshine was brimful of dreams?

Presently, as she sat there in the absolute silence of the woodland, broken

only by the distant call of a hermit fine as any, only she can't see it, for we shook some of our pollen in her eyes and that has magical powers. She will keep trotting about here, there and yonder and never stop a second until the power of the pollen is spent. You've heard of the dog trot, haven't you?

Well, she is on one."
"I wish you'd hurry and get on with your story," cried Madge.
"Patience, my dear. You are lucky to hear it at all. When you learn that you are the only person among the millions on this earth who is privileged to do so, you may congratulate yourself. You've heard of the dog star, of course. Everybody has. Sirius, the grown-ups call it, although I could never understand why, for there is nothing very serious about it. If they could go there they would change their minds pretty quick. Such romps!
Such fun! Nothing like it is ever known down here. Once a year the dog star sends its rays straight to this earth, just to see if something cannot be done to stir things up a bit. The people say then that 'dog days' have come and the dogs go nearly wild with delight, for they understand the meaning of the messages sent by the dog star. The people do not, and very often the poor dogs have to suffer."

"How can the dogs understand?"

questioned Madge.

"Dogs understand a vast deal more than they are given credit for, let me tell you. The dog star is the dog's kingdom. Such a blissful place! Such liberty! Such fun! A leading string is unknown, for there are no twolegged creatures to hold the other end of it. And a muzzle! If such a thing were mentioned no one would know what was meant. Would we were back there and in our former shape!"

"Long, long ago, a certain king of Sirius gave a magnificent fete and all the kingdom was commanded to be present. It was a gathering! Days and weeks of feasting in right royal style.

Joints, birds—words fail me; I cannot describe it, but everything a dog could want a dog could have. If fat sides and sleek coats were an evidence of
